EDITOR, WLA FOLIOS

For nearly 30 years War, Literature & the Arts: An International Journal of the Humanities has published work that illuminates the vital confluence of conflict and art. We're proud of our history of showcasing established and emerging voices across a wide spectrum of genres. Our new venture, WLA Folios, is an important contribution to WLA's present and future.

Published every year in the spring, WLA Folios is a themed issue which complements and magnifies the annual journal while staking out new ground. For 2017, the focus of WLA Folios is peace. Sixteen distinguished contributors were asked to consider peace and its many manifestations, voices, reflections, corruptions, memories, and aspirations. I'm honored to share the results with you here.
